

Cut around the shape of the mask, then punch out the white holes and secure together with string. You can use varying lengths of string to make different sizes.